FSC shall have the discretion to determine which securities and other property are to be sold and which contracts are to be closed. Any such sales or purchases may be made at FSC’s discretion on any exchange, the over-the-counter market or any other market where such business is usually transacted, or at public auction or private sale, and FSC may be the purchaser for its own account.

- Payment of Indebtedness Upon Demand. You shall at all times be liable for the payment upon demand of any of your obligations owed to FSC, and you shall be liable to FSC for any deficiency remaining in any such accounts in the event of the liquidation thereof (as contemplated in Paragraph 4 of this Agreement or otherwise), in whole or in part, by FSC or by you; and you shall make payment of such obligations upon demand.

- Accounts Carried as Clearing Broker. You understand that FSC is carrying your accounts as clearing broker by arrangement with your Introducing Broker through whose courtesy, your account has been introduced to FSC. Until receipt from you of written notice to the contrary, FSC may accept and rely upon from such Introducing Broker and its representatives, employees and other agents, without any inquiry or investigation by FSC: (a) orders for the purchase or sale in said account of securities and other property, and (b) any other instructions concerning your accounts. You represent that you understand that FSC acts only to clear trades introduced by your Introducing Broker and to effect other back office functions for your Introducing Broker. You confirm to FSC that you are relying solely on your Introducing Broker for any advice concerning your accounts. You understand that all representatives, employees and other agents with whom you communicate concerning your account are agents of the Introducing Broker, and not FSC’s representatives, employees or other agents. You understand that FSC is not a principal of or partner with, and does not control in any way, the Introducing Broker or its representatives, employees or other agents. You understand that FSC will not review your accounts and will have no responsibility for trades made in your accounts. FSC shall not be responsible or liable for any acts or omissions of the Introducing Broker or its representatives, employees or other agents.

11. Hypothecation. Within the limitations imposed by applicable laws, rules and regulations, all securities now or hereafter held by FSC, or carried by FSC in any of your accounts (either individually or jointly with others), or deposited to secure same, may from time to time, without any notice, be carried in FSC's general loans and may be pledged, repledged, hypothecated or rehypothecated, separately or in common with other securities for the sum due to FSC thereon or for a greater sum and without retaining in FSC's possession or control for delivery a like amount of similar securities. It is understood, however, that FSC agrees to deliver to you upon demand and upon payment of the full amount due thereon, all securities in such accounts, but without obligation to deliver the same certificates or securities deposited by you originally. Any securities in your margin or short account may be borrowed by FSC, or lent to others. In certain circumstances, such loans may limit, in whole or in part, your ability to exercise voting or other attendant rights of ownership with respect to the loaned or pledged securities.
12. Interest. Debit balances in all of your accounts shall be charged with interest in accordance with FSC's established custom, as disclosed to you in the Customer Information Brochure pursuant to the provisions of Rule 10b-16 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

14. Sales. You agree to specifically designate any order to sell a security that you do not own as a short sale, and understand that FSC will mark such order as a short sale. You agree that any order that is not specifically designated as a short sale is a sale of securities owned by you, and that you will deliver the securities on or before the settlement date, if not already in the account. If you should fail to make such delivery in the time required, FSC is authorized to borrow such securities as necessary to make delivery for your sale, and you agree to be responsible for any loss FSC may thereby sustain, or that FSC may sustain as a result of FSC's inability to borrow such securities.

15. Representations. You represent that you are of full age, that you are not an employee of any exchange, or of any corporation of which any exchange owns a majority of the capital stock, or of a member of any exchange, or of a member firm or member corporation registered on any exchange or of a bank, trust company, insurance company or of any corporation, firm or individual engaged in the business of dealing either as broker or as principal in securities, bills of exchange, acceptances or other forms of commercial paper. If you are a corporation, partnership, trust or other entity, you represent that its governing instruments permit this Agreement, that this Agreement has been authorized by all applicable persons and that you are authorized to bind the corporation, partnership, trust or other entity. You represent that you shall comply with all applicable laws, rules and regulations in connection with your account. You further represent that no one except you has an interest in your account or accounts with FSC.
16. Joint Accounts. If you shall consist of more than one person, your obligations under this Agreement shall be joint and several. References to the “you” shall include each of you. FSC may rely on transfer or other instructions of any one of you in a joint account, and such instructions shall be binding on each of you. FSC may deliver securities or other property to, and send confirmations, notices, statements and communications of every kind, to any one of you and such action shall be binding on each of you.
17. Other Agreements. If you trade on margin or in short accounts, you agree to be bound by the terms of this Customer Margin and Short Agreement. If you trade any options, you agree to be bound by the terms of FSC’s Customer Options Agreement. If this is a joint account, you agree to be bound by FSC’s Joint Account Agreement. You understand that copies of these agreements are available from FSC and, to the extent applicable, are incorporated by reference herein. The terms of these other agreements are in addition to the provisions of this Agreement and any other written agreements between FSC and you.
18. Miscellaneous. If any provision of this Agreement is held to be unenforceable, it shall not affect any other provision of this Agreement. The headings of each section of this Agreement are descriptive only and do not modify or qualify any provision of this Agreement. This Agreement and its enforcement shall be governed by the laws of the State of Texas and shall cover individually and collectively all accounts that you have previously opened, now have open or may open or reopen with FSC, FSC’s predecessor or any Introducing Broker, and any and all previous, current and future transactions in such accounts. Except as provided in this Agreement, no provision of this Agreement may be altered, modified or amended unless in writing signed by an FSC authorized representative. This Agreement and all provisions shall inure to the benefit of FSC and FSC’s successors, whether by merger, consolidation or otherwise, FSC’s assigns, your Introducing Broker, and all other persons specified in paragraph 10. This document is being provided to you to give you some basic facts about purchasing securities on margin and to alert you to the risks involved with trading securities in a margin account. Before trading stocks in a margin account, you should carefully review your Customer Margin and Short Agreement. Consult your broker regarding any questions or concerns you may have with your margin account(s).

When you purchase securities, you may pay for the securities in full or you may borrow part of the purchase price. If you choose to borrow funds, you will open a margin account. The securities purchased serve as collateral for the loan to you. If the securities in your account decline in value, so does the value of the collateral supporting your loan, and, as a result, either the clearing firm or the introducing broker can take action, such as issue a margin call and/or sell securities or other assets in any of your accounts, in order to maintain the required equity in the account.

It is important that you fully understand the risks involved in trading securities on margin. These risks include, but are not limited to, the following:

1. You can lose more funds than you deposit in the margin account. A decline in the value of securities that are purchased on margin may require you to provide additional funds to avoid the forced sale of those securities or other securities or assets in your account(s).
2. The clearing firm or the introducing broker can force the sale of securities or other assets in your account(s). If the equity in your account falls below the maintenance margin requirements or higher “house” requirements, the clearing firm or the introducing broker can sell the securities or other assets in any of your account(s) to cover the margin deficiency. You also will be responsible for any short fall in the account after such a sale.
3. The clearing firm or the introducing broker can sell your securities or other assets without contacting you. Some investors mistakenly believe that a clearing firm or an introducing broker must contact them for a margin call to be valid and that securities or other assets held in their accounts cannot be liquidated to meet the call unless the investor has been contacted first. This is not the case. Most firms will attempt to notify the customer of a current margin call but are not required to do so. However, even if a firm has contacted a customer and provided a specific date by which the customer can meet a margin call, the firm can still take necessary steps to protect its financial interests, including immediately selling the securities without prior notice to the customer.
4. You are not entitled to choose which securities or other assets in your account(s) are liquidated or sold to meet a margin call. Because the securities are collateral for the margin loan, the clearing firm or the introducing broker has the right to decide which security to sell in order to protect its interests.
5. The firm can increase its “house” maintenance margin requirements at any time and is not required to provide you advance written notice. These changes in firm policy often take effect immediately and may result in the issuance of a maintenance margin call. Your failure to satisfy the call may cause the liquidation or sellout of securities in your account(s).
6. You are not entitled to an extension of time on a margin call. While an extension of time to meet margin requirements may be available to customers under certain conditions, a customer does not have a right to the extension.
